

FROM POLICY TO ACTION

Strengthening Adolescent Sexual and Reproductive Health Services in the County

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Adolescents and young people make up a significant proportion of Kenya's population and represent the country's future social and economic potential. The National Adolescent Sexual and Reproductive Health Policy provides a framework to ensure that adolescents have access to accurate information, quality health services and supportive environments that enable them to make informed decisions about their health and well-being.

Despite the existence of this national policy, implementation at the county level remains limited. Many adolescents continue to experience unintended pregnancies, limited access to youth-friendly health services, harmful cultural practices, stigma and inadequate access to age-appropriate sexuality education.

Counties have an opportunity to strengthen implementation through targeted investments, multi-sectoral collaboration and meaningful youth participation.

WHY THIS MATTERS

Investing in adolescent sexual and reproductive health helps to:

- ✓ Reduce adolescent pregnancies
- ✓ Keep girls in school
- ✓ Reduce maternal deaths among adolescents
- ✓ Prevent HIV and other sexually transmitted infections
- ✓ Delay early marriages and harmful practices
- ✓ Improve mental health and well-being
- ✓ Build healthier, more productive communities

CURRENT IMPLEMENTATION CHALLENGES AT COUNTY LEVEL

CHALLENGE	WHY IT MATTERS
Limited youth-friendly health services	Many adolescents avoid seeking care because services are not adolescent-sensitive or accessible in their area.
Limited implementation of comprehensive sexuality education (CSE)	Many adolescents lack accurate, age-appropriate information to make informed decisions
Cultural and religious barriers	Stigma, myths and social norms discourage adolescents from seeking information and services
Limited youth participation	Adolescents are rarely involved in designing, implementing or evaluating programmes that affect them
Weak county coordination	Limited collaboration between the health, education, youth and social sectors affects service delivery.
